

PCMag Readers Declare Ooma Office the Best Business VoIP Phone Service for the 8th Straight Year

March 11, 2021

SUNNYVALE, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Ooma, Inc., a smart communications platform for businesses and consumers, today announced that – for the eighth year in a row – the company’s Ooma Office service has won PCMag’s prestigious Business Choice Award for Best VoIP System.

The award (<https://www.pcmag.com/news/business-choice-2021-voice-over-ip-voip-systems>) is part of the magazine’s annual Business Choice survey of its readers, and Ooma once again emerged as the top business VoIP provider among 14 finalists, including RingCentral, Avaya, Vonage, and Mitel.

“Ooma has won our VoIP survey for eight years running, and this year, it earns incredible scores on every measure we rate,” PCMag says in its story on the award. “If your business needs a reliable phone system, our readers agree: You can’t go wrong with Ooma.”

Dan Costa, editor-in-chief of PCMag, said: “PCMag readers have spoken repeatedly and clearly through the years to say that Ooma is their favorite VoIP provider. Ooma not only wins in overall satisfaction but leads in all categories we measure – including value, reliability, ease of use, call quality and likelihood to recommend.”

“This is the award that is most meaningful to all of us at Ooma because it comes directly from our customers. We are truly honored to have once again been chosen as the best business VoIP service by the readers of PCMag,” said Jim Gustke, vice president of marketing at Ooma. “Our goal from the beginning was to create a business communication system that is incredibly easy to administer, even easier to use, and curated with the features and services businesses need most. This accolade is evidence of our progress and achievement. It’s a thrill to know Ooma is helping make so many businesses more
